YESTERDAYS MEET TOMORROWS

With the theme, "Where Yesterdays Meet Tomorrows," the Porterville Fair will open Thursday, May 18, for its 25th year - which is a quarter century - which is a long time.

Looking ahead 25 years ago, a quarter century was a period of time that existed only in the impossible future; looking back, that quarter century, which passed quickly, has embraced successes, failures, work by many people, tremendous community cooperation, and, over-all, the establishing of a fair that is the largest event of its kind in California that operates without aid of state funds.

As a result of the "Yesterdays," southeastern Tulare county people, young and old, are able to enjoy a home-town type of fair, designed for family fun and for benefit specifically of Future Farmers and 4-H club members.

Looking toward the "Tomorrows," the Porterville fair will continue to be just what people of the community want it to be, and what they are willing to make it by their work - enjoyable work, really.

Key to the past has been young people working on the fair board and in various departments of the fair - young people who have been outspoken in their opinions, who raised their voices and beat on the table in board meetings, but who, after the issue was voted on and settled, accepted the decision and went to work.

Now some of these "young people" are beginning to show the wear and tear of time and it is important that other young people constantly move into

CALIFORNIA SPEAKS

GOV. RONALD REAGAN — "We've all for a long time believed that with every right there goes a responsibility. Wouldn't it be nice for a change to see someone demonstrate for his responsibilities?"

JOHNNIE M. WALTERS, Commissioner, Internal Revenue Service, speaking to Commonwealth Club of California — "There is nothing evil about profits. They are a basic part of our free enterprise system — a part of the system that has built more homes, supplied better clothing, more and better food, greater medical care than any civilization has ever enjoyed."

positions of responsibility in connection with the fair - young people with imagination, who are outspoken, who will beat on the table, who will come to decisions, and who will then go to work.

If this basic pattern is followed, the Porterville fair will continue to prosper, and when its 50th anniversary rolls around it will still be an enjoyable, family-entertainment type of event - possibly greatly changed in format, but the same in spirit.

Key is the same as always and will always remain the same - young people willing to accept responsibilities, and willing to work and utilize their practical imagination to keep the "old" fair young in spirit.

But enough of this.

It's almost fair time again - Porterville fair time for the 25th time - so, as we might have mentioned before, "Let's take the family and have fun at the fair."

Haying And Grazing Of Set-Aside Acreage Possible Under New Program

VISALIA — With most of the state suffering from a rather severe drought the Tulare County ASC committee has considered provisions, which permits haying and grazing of set-aside acreage, according to M.L. Rogers, committee chairman.

The procedure permits grazing with a reduction in payment for the acreage used, which may be of assistance in preventing disorderly marketing of livestock in Tulare county.

Committee request to the State ASC committee for approval was accepted, subject to the following rules.

1. Haying of set-aside acreage is not approved.

2. The minimum charge (reduction in payment) for grazing dryland set-aside is $2.00 per acre per month. COCs may set rates based on their estimate of the value of the grazing, but these rates may not be less than the $2.00 minimum.

3. Grazing of irrigated set-aside is approved only if an annual crop such as sudan is planted on it. Grazing of irrigated set-aside acreage in existing permanent pasture or alfalfa is not permitted.

4. The minimum charge for grazing irrigated set-aside is $25.00 per acre per season. (Calculated on the basis of five months at $5.00 per month).

5. The minimum charge for grazing beet tops is $5.00 per acre per month.

6. The maximum charge for reletting grazing to a third party is $3.00 in addition to the minimum charge, for example, if the minimum charge is $2.00 the maximum charge is $5.00. In the case of the $25.00 minimum for a season's grazing the maximum charge would be $40.00 ($5.00 minimum plus $3.00 additional times five months).

SOFTBALL GAME WILL HIGHLIGHT PARENTS MEETING

Great professional talent has again been booked for the Porterville Fair's night show, May 18-19-20.

"CULINARY VOYAGE" WILL FEATURE AFS SMORGASBORD AT MONACHE HIGH

PORTERVILLE — Dick Gregory, a man with a message of freedom and equality not only for the Black but for the entire human race, according to press releases, will speak Thursday evening, May 25, at the Porterville College student union.

Gregory has spent more time in southern jails, marched in more demonstrations, prevented more racial violence and worked harder for the rights of the Negro than any other entertainer in America. ## DWP Brings In Heavy Equipment

LOS ANGELES — A large piece of trenching equipment and two operators have been assigned by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power to aid in extensive geologic studies at the DWP's proposed Tulare County nuclear plant site.

The equipment, a 20-ton grade-all, is larger than the backhoes formerly used and will speed geologic trenching work on the 2,150 acre site five miles east of Strathmore, Floyd L. Goss, chief electrical engineer and assistant manager, said.

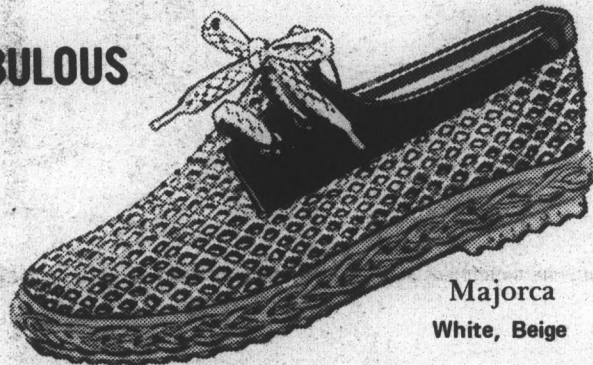

"The grade-all will allow greater flexibility in the geologic trenching scheduled to continue for several more weeks," Goss said.

Use of the DWP grade-all on the proposed nuclear plant site is due to the unavailability of this equipment in the local area, he said.

"Solid Front" Against Pink Bollworm Lauded

VISALIA — The cotton industry in Tulare county again showed a solid front in the fight against pink bollworm, according to Agricultural Commissioner Elvin O. Mankins, who says all cotton gins, trailers, pickers and other equipment are now in compliance with the state regulation. Cotton seed and cotton lint containing seed has been cleaned up and destroyed so that the chances of "pinkies" flying out to infest this year's crop is small.

Inspectors from the Agricultural Commissioner's office have been out working with growers and gins, encouraging a timely cleanup. They report that for the most part there has been excellent cooperation.

Alvin's appetite.

It's one reason we need additional power plants.

Have you ever thought about how electricity puts food on your table?

Electricity helps grow it, freeze it, can it and ship it.

And think about how electricity helps you prepare food for your family.

As the population expands, there will be more Alvins (and Alices) to feed.

That means more farm production—and more demand for electricity.

To meet these demands, Edison must be permitted to build additional power plants now. And transmission lines to deliver that power.

Otherwise, there simply won't be enough electricity to go around.

Nuclear power plants are one way to provide more electricity. They're proven, clean and smog-free.

Other ways to generate electricity are under intensive research or being developed now. Meanwhile, existing methods are steadily being improved.

If you ever hear somebody say we don't need more electricity, just think about food.

Food and electricity. The two go together.

Peaches And Oranges Move From County

VISALIA — Spring peaches are now being picked and packed in Tulare county and Valencia oranges are being packed for export, according to weekly report of Agricultural Commissioner Elvin O. Mankins.

In commenting on county agriculture, Mankins said that plums, late peaches, and nectarines are being thinned; cotton chopping has started; alfalfa is being cut and baled; some barley fields are being cut for hay or grazed by sheep; oats are being cut for silage; cucumbers and squash are being picked; asparagus harvest is slow because of cool weather.

Mankins also reports that tomatoes are blooming; that sugar beets and milo are coming along well; some spraying for alfalfa weevil is underway; frost-damaged trees and vines are putting out new growth; and citrus bloom is virtually complete.

Rangeland conditions are poor, Mankins says, with livestock being moved off ranges to markets and feedlots.

Executives Of Air Works-India Study Techniques At Heli-Parts

By Terry Bergfalk

PORTERVILLE — "India's biggest agricultural problem is that the nation has reached its limit in use of existing land acreage," stated P.G. Dastoor and P.S. Menon, visiting executives of Air Works-India of Bombay, who were here making a study of the immediate availability of major component and spare parts for helicopters and agri-fixed winged aircraft and how to cut down on time needed to repair aircraft, at Heli-Parts, Inc. at Porterville Municipal airport.

The pair whose company is the largest in India is an aviation facility that services, maintains and overhauls all types of conventional and rotor type aircraft, for every single non-scheduled operator in their country as well as aircraft from adjacent countries. They are a division of Mahindra & Mahindra, LTD, an industrial complex, that manufactures Willys Jeeps, Harvester tractors, Otis Lifts, electronics and instruments, for foreign companies.

Dastoor, pointed out that there are approximately 4.25 million acres of land under the plow, with only 2.5 million acres that are being sprayed.

He said, "There is a phenomenal scope for introducing the basic agricultural input in larger measures than what now exists and this can only be done by improved methods and modern techniques. As an example, the introduction of hybrid and high yielding food and cash crops, improved irrigation, extension programs in foliage, application of fertilizers, the treatment of crop diseases through the use of improved and non-toxic pesticides. "India must reach self sufficiency in food and cash crops to conserve foreign exchange for industrialization and other national priorities."

Dastoor, who began his career in aviation in 1947 as a sales manager for Air India, entered the field of agricultural aviation in 1961 and is the chief executive for the Agro-Division of Mahindra & Mahindra LTD.

Menon, who with his brother started Air Works-India in 1961 has been an aircraft maintenance engineer for the past 25 years.

They both noted that since the start of their company, India has made great strides in all areas of aviation. All airports both private and commercial are owned, controlled and managed by their government. At present there are over 700,000 persons employed in the aviation industry with many of them having attended the Indian Institute of Technology that is financed through aid programs from the United States, Russia, Germany and Great Britain. These schools are in Bombay, Calcutta and Madras.

In the field of agricultural aviation there are 15 aero chemical companies operating in India at this time with an overall

HIGH FOOD PRICES NOT REALLY HIGH IF TOTAL AVERAGE INCOME CONSIDERED

Are food prices too high? The Associated Press recently quoted AFL-CIO President George Meany as calling for controls on food prices, even at the risk of shortages and rationing. Meany, according to the A.P., said wages were being "effectively controlled" while prices were being allowed to "go through the roof."

The January, 1972, revision of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's 180-page publication, "Farm-Retail Spreads for Food Products," sheds interesting light on America's food dollar. The study involves farm-to-retail price spreads for farm-originated foods sold in retail foodstores.

Many factors enter into the food prices paid by consumers, including the share paid to farmers. Intermediate costs such as taxes, transportation, container and packaging prices, interest charges,

An examination of data for the years launching the decade of the '60s and the '70s suggests that inflation of labor costs had had a major effect on farm-retail price spreads. For many food-marketing firms, about half of their total costs - excluding raw materials - are for labor.

During the decade from 1960 to 1970, the U.S.D.A. noted that labor's fringe benefits had increased even faster than hourly wages. And hourly wages in this period increased 49% for manufacturing employees of the food industry. .63% for wholesaling employees. .and 60% for retailing employees: an average of nearly 55% increase in labor costs from 1960 to 1970. Meantime a comparison of total labor cost and volume of farm products marketed shows a "unit cost" increase of 40%, despite technological improvements.

In 1960 - according to the U.S.D.A. study - the farmer's share of the consumer dollar was 39c. It was still 39c in 1970.

Mr. Meany's reported anguish over food costs is not supported by that segment of the U.S.D.A. study which notes that - expressed as a percentage of disposable income - Americans are paying steadily less for food.

The consumer with disposable income of $1,937 in 1960 paid 20% - $388 - for "market basket" food at retail. In 1970 - with income up over 73% to $3,358 - this "average" consumer spent $557 for food... or 16.6% of his disposable income.

O.W. Fillerup, Executive Vice President of the Council of California Growers, noted that the retail cost of the "market basket" had risen in most years since 1947, with 1970 topping the 1947-1949 level by 36%. He said that, on the other hand, returns to farmers had actually decreased in many of those years and, in 1970, were only 6% higher than in 1947-1949.

"Perhaps Mr. Meany should look to sharply rising labor costs, without equivalent increase in productivity, as a major contributor to the rising levels of prices for food," Fillerup said.

Regulations to outlaw use of dogs in deer hunting will probably be adopted by the California Fish and Game commission for the 1972-73 season.

community, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Special entertainment on Friday, May 19, will feature a working dogs demonstration, obedience and protection, sponsored by the San Joaquin Working Canine association, beginning at 7 p.m.; later in the evening a local-area group, the Mormon Youth Dancers, will be on stage.

Set as entertainment features Saturday, May 20 are an action-packed gymkhana starting at 10 a.m.; a Fair parade through downtown Porterville, also at 10 a.m.; livestock exhibitors' banquet in the evening; Doc Small's Medicine Show at 7:00 p.m. and the Porterville Twirlerettes at 8:00 p.m.

Highlight feature on the final day of the fair will be annual market livestock auction, starting at 1:00 p.m., with Col. Skinner Hardy handling the hammer; and, at 9:00 a.m., an open livestock judging contest.

Traditional entertainment pattern will be followed each night of the fair when professional performers appear on the outdoor stage. In the cast this year are: The Stardusters, doing an aerial adagio and unison sway pole routine 100 feet in the air; the Russ Saunders Trio, champion gymnastic performers are flying acrobats; the Rudenko Brothers, whose routine is rated as the funniest and most remarkable juggling act in show biz today; Princess Elena Omar, with her sensational European balancing routine; the Dilly Dallys, comedy acrobats; and the Musical Men Of Note, with George Goulding at the organ.

Throughout the fair, Johnny Lopez will have his Western Pacific Shows carnival on the grounds, and gourmet foods, orange juice, and a variety of other items will be served from home-operated concession booths.

Judging in the various divisions of the fair is set for May 18 and 19, with grand champion judging of market beef and market hogs the evening of May 18, and market lambs, May 19.

Following grand champion judging each evening, a demonstration of sheep shearing will be presented by Rudy Alvarado, of Hanford.

Assisting with awards presentations on the outdoor stage will be Davalynn Chamberlain, Tulare County Maid of Cotton, and Nanci Carter, alternate Maid, both of Porterville; and Marilyn Thomas, Miss Porterville for 1971-72.

Appearing at Porterville schools next week representing the fair will be Lorenzo, the Magician.

VANDALIA 4-H members are "pitching in" at the Porterville fair grounds in anticipation of opening of the 1972 fair, May 18, with special emphasis on two projects - repair and replacing gravel barrels at water faucets on the fair grounds, and the handing of specially made flower baskets in the livestock auction ring area, with these baskets to be filled with flowers during the sale. Working in top photo are Greg Bennett, left, and Brent dormant, then during the growing season only need is to replace the water used by the tree.

It is difficult to wet the soil to a depth of 10 feet or more. Most soils in this area don't accept water very fast, so to get deep penetration the water must be applied to the soil surface for a long period of time.

HANFORD HEIFER TOPS ASSOCIATION

VISALIA - Leading first-calf heifer in the Tulare County Dairy Herd Improvement association for the month of March was a grade Holstein, owned by Case Roest Jr., of Hanford. The heifer produced 19,100 pounds of milk and 822 pounds of butterfat during a 305-day lactation period.

Lemon harvest is active in southern California, with fruit quality good.

Lack of rain has hurt the Safflower crop in the Sacramento and northern San Joaquin valleys.
